Genomic Medicine

Every day more and more is known about the importance of knowing a person's genome, which contains invaluable information about who we are on a biological level.

Today's preventive medicine is based on "predict to prevent" through the ability to identify the risk of certain diseases by studying changes in genes. Once we are aware of the individual risk of any disease, appropriate and necessary measures can be taken to avoid such a situation.

Early treatment, together with appropriate lifestyle habits, allows prevention guidelines to be established before the onset of symptoms and unwanted effects. The analysis of the results of genetic tests allows the correct application of Preventive Medicine, which will help you to live longer and with a better quality of life.

Our specialists will advise you on which tests are the most appropriate and, depending on the results, will recommend guidelines to follow in terms of supplements, diet, medication and lifestyle habits.

DIAGNOSTIC TESTS

At SHA, we have a wide list of genetic tests that allow us to establish early treatments and lifestyle habits that let us foster prevention before the onset of symptoms and unwanted effects. The analysis of the results allows us to apply any necessary treatment on a case-by-case basis. We have more than 25 different tests, including:

Do not hesitate to ask our specialists to find out the most suitable genetic tests according to your profile and needs.

Sleep Medicine

Sleep is our body's main reparative process. Sleep disorders such as insomnia, frequent waking, snoring and apnoea are some of the most frequent causes of tiredness and chronic exhaustion. Sleeping little or badly can result in severe adverse consequences, both physically and mentally. It is scientifically proven that there is a relationship between a lack of restorative sleep and sadness, irritability, depression, digestive system disorders, the immune system, early ageing, high blood pressure, increased risk of cardiovascular disease, and problems with concentration and performance, amongst other issues. Getting a better sleep is indispensable.

SLEEP MEDICINE CONSULTATION

In addition, new life habits are established to overcome tobacco dependence.

COTININE | NICOTINE METABOLITE

Cotinines detect the metabolism of tobacco nicotine in the smoker's body. Their concentration in urine depends on the number of cigarettes consumed per day, and the body's ability to metabolise nicotine. ANTI-TOBACCO COACHING SESSION

170€

Session with one of our expert psychologists, who will guide the patient through the entire process of detachment from the cigarette addiction. With the help of the coach, several areas of work are proposed, in order to achieve the objective in an effective way and in the shortest time possible:

2. Specific achievable objectives are established, according to the needs and level of predisposition of the patient.
3. An action plan is defined to achieve the main objective: to stop smoking. This is done through transformation therapy and new behaviours.

Revitalising Medicine x5 pack

The manual mechanised transplant technique that we use at SHA allows us to extract hair from the entire donation area on the head and use maximum 0.8 mm incisions when extracting follicles. After careful preparation under the microscope the follicles are implanted using micro incisions.

This technique is known as FUE (follicular unit extraction or individual follicular extraction) and the follicles are implanted without the need for stitches in a non-invasive procedure. It is agreed to be the most advanced hair-transplant technique, implanting each hair individually and leaving only a small incision that does not require stitches and heals by itself without scarring.

The grafts taken from the back and sides of the head have hormonal receptors which are not affected by enzyme hyperactivity, meaning that once they are implanted in other areas they do not fall out and continue growing normally.

This procedure takes between 7 and 8 hours and costs can range from €7,000 - €9,000 depending on the number of follicles transplanted.
